The Gospel of John

But these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Messiah, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name.

John 20:31

Lectio Divina

(Pronounced: Leck – tea – oh Dee – veen – ah)

Lectio Divina (from the Latin meaning “divine reading”) is a contemplative way of reading the Bible. The practice dates back to the early centuries of the Christian Church and was established as a monastic practice by Benedict in the 6th century. It draws on the ways the Jews read the ancient Haggadah, a text during the Passover that retells the Exodus story. It is a telling and retelling of the story; thus, there is a lot of repetition involved.

If 2021 was about quantity (reading the entire Bible - Genesis to Revelation), then 2022 is about quality. Lectio Divina is a way of praying the Scriptures that leads us deeper into God’s Word. We slow down. We read a shorter passage more than once. We chew it over slowly and carefully. We savor it. We open ourselves so that Scripture speaks to us in a new way with personal connection. We invite Jesus Christ, the Living Word, to touch our souls deeply.

So, Lectio Divina is not Bible study or even an alternative to Bible study but something altogether different. The practice understands Scripture as a meeting place for a personal encounter with the Living God. It operates very much on the emotional rather than the purely cerebral level. It is perhaps hearty rather than heady. Through it we allow ourselves to be formed in the likeness of Christ.

Lectio Divina is about communing with God, much like when we receive the Sacrament of Holy Communion. It’s meant to be an intensely personal experience. Thus, we don’t simply read the text; we think about it, we pray about it, we reflect on it, and we are silent with it, inviting the Holy Spirit to transform our hearts and minds in a whole new way.

We will be practicing Lectio Divina as a congregation as we read through the Gospel of John over the course of 44 weeks. In other words, as you are experiencing God’s Word in a new way, you will have opportunity to share your thoughts, insights, and transformation with others at Faith Lutheran.

If this all sounds too mystical, rest assured that each day, as you are reading a Bible passage, you will also be invited to read some reflections from Chuck Swindoll, a winsome Bible teacher and story-teller of nearly 60 years. You are also encouraged to participate in a Life Group conversation, utilizing the reflections of Anglican Pastor NT Wright. Of course, each Sunday morning, you will also be encouraged and challenged from a Lutheran perspective.
